

ABSTRACT

[0029] A method including identifying data for transmission, determining a number of time-slots available for the transmission, and identifying a data packet from a plurality of data packets to transmit a portion of the data is disclosed.